Expectations and Policies

During the weekend, please remember that you represent all Elks scholars and you are expected to abide by the rules set forth for the 150 for 150 Service and Celebration Weekend.

These expectations are based on Elks National Foundation and Trinity University policies.

We have a contract with Trinity University and have agreed to abide by their policies. Under no circumstances should males be in female rooms or females be in male rooms. Please do not go onto a resident floor designated for the opposite gender.

You may not leave the service sites, Convention Center, or Trinity University except for activities outlined by the Elks National Foundation. Scholars must attend all 150 for 150 functions and activities and cannot depart from the schedule.

No tobacco or smoking is allowed.

Using, possessing, or being under the influence of alcohol during service and activities is prohibited, even if you are of age. Alcohol and drugs are not allowed on campus.

If you're of age (21 years old) and alcohol is present at the Elks' 150th anniversary celebration, please limit consumption to two (2) drinks.

Quiet Hours—Scholars must be mindful of other Trinity guests and respect quiet hours. You must be in your residence hall by 11 p.m. each night. Across campus, lights must be out no later than midnight.

Failure to adhere to the rules may result in immediate dispatching of scholar and any additional expenses incurred will be the scholar's responsibility.

To Keep in Mind:

- Tuck the Tech—Cell phones are not to be used during service to ensure safety.
- Trash—You are responsible for taking trash to the designated trash room within your residence hall. Please take it out prior to departure.
- Key Fee—It's $50 to replace a room key. If you lose your key, you will be responsible for paying to replace the key.
- #ElksFamily—We encourage you to use your own social media to post about the ENF and the Elks. If you do post about your time on the trip, please use tact.
