A Letter From the Director

Dear Friend:

“Once upon a time...”

These four simple words form one of the most powerful phrases in the English language. “Once upon a time” grabs our attention. It signals that we are about to hear a magical tale, a tale of witches or fairies or heroic rescues. Or all three.

The hero of the fairy tale is often a disadvantaged youth who, after many trials and tribulations—and the aid of a magical being—escapes misery to find a new life in a beautiful castle, where he or she will live happily ever after.

Heed the wise fairy’s advice, escape poverty, kill the dragon, destroy the ring, rescue the princess, and live happily ever after. If only it were that easy! Unfortunately, fairy tales aren’t true.

In real life, there are no magic fairies. For young people, overcoming adversity takes grit, determination and hard work. And there’s a lot of adversity to overcome: peer pressure to use drugs, nowhere to go after school, a lack of resources to pay for college. How do you dream about college when you know you can’t pay for it?

In real life, kids have to navigate all these perils to create their own “happily ever after.” But like their fairy-tale counterparts, they’re not alone on their journey. The Elks are with them. We may not have wands or magic dust or puffy silver dresses, but we’re with them nonetheless, ready to give advice, aid and material support.

Throughout this book, you’ll find the Elks’ magic at work. You’ll read the tale of siblings who are determined to attend college after unexpectedly losing their father. You’ll read about young basketball stars with big dreams for their futures. You’ll see firsthand the influence of our drug awareness message.

By supporting the Elks National Foundation, you help so many kids get from “once upon a time” to “happily ever after.” Thank you. Together, we’re making wishes come true.

Sincerely,

Happily Ever After... Begins with Saying No!

CHAPTER ONE: DRUG AWARENESS

While children curl up in bed and drift off to sleep, scary thoughts of monsters and evil queens sometimes fill their dreams. But during the day, kids battle a different kind of villain. He doesn't have horns or breathe fire, but this bad guy strives to poison the bodies and minds of America's youth through the temptation of drugs and alcohol.

Here comes Elroy the Elk in a red cape to the rescue! While it's not as dramatic as a hero flying in to rescue kids, the Elks Drug Awareness Program battles the drug-and-alcohol villain every day in Elks communities across the country. By distributing anti-drug educational literature and organizing public service announcements, the Drug Awareness Program gets the word out. They even have a custom comic book featuring Marvel superheroes and Elroy the Elk in a battle against underage drinking!

The program also sponsors essay and poster contests for youth, including a Heroes Essay Contest, where the Grand Prize winner gets to appear in a Marvel comic book! This year's winning Drug Awareness Program essay, "Drugs? Don't Get Me Started," is by Cody Wilson of Canyon Dam, Calif. The winning poster is by artist Lady Sarah Federico of El Cajon, Calif. And, the Grand Prize winner of the 2008 Heroes Essay contest is Dax Johnson of Chula Vista, Calif.

"DRUGS? DON'T GET ME STARTED" BY CODY WILSON

So you're thinking about trying drugs. I mean, what's the harm really? Everyone is doing it and you can stop whenever you want to, right? Well, all I have to say is, "Drugs, don't get me started."

Drugs may seem harmless, especially if you're only planning to just sample them. But I can assure you that it only takes one drunk driving episode or drug-related accident to die. Just ask my 18-year-old cousin who had his entire life ahead of him before he was killed by a drunk driver. That's right, you can't ask him, and neither can his parents, friends or anyone else. Drugs, don't get me started.

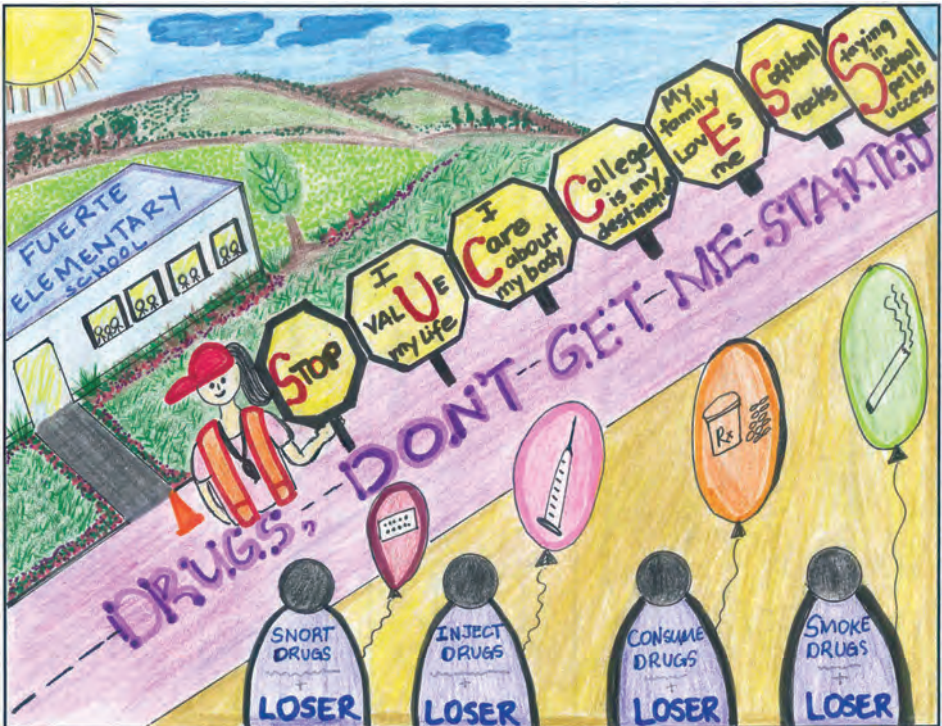

Still not convinced? Picture this: You're young, happy, and smart with lots of caring friends and family. Then, one day, you wake up to realize you have no money, no education, no job, and worst of all, you look and feel miserable. Your so-called friends have all left you to make a good life for themselves and you find yourself lonely, sad, and depressed. Does this sound like the kind of person you want to become? Drugs, don't get me started.

Okay, so you've heard all this before and you're not buying it. Well, don't worry because you'll be buying "it" for the rest of your life. Once you start, you'll never stop. Good luck being able to afford your new habit. And don't be surprised if you turn to gambling and other illegal means to get that money. And certainly don't be surprised if you end up in jail. After all, that is where you were headed, right? Drugs, don't get me started.

Now is the time to take control of your life. Now is the time to get your priorities straight. Find out who your real friends are, start taking care of your health, your education, and your future. Because when it comes right down to it, the decision to do or not to do drugs is all up to you. What will you decide when that time comes?

“GREAT THINGS I CAN DO IF I STAY AWAY FROM DRUGS AND ALCOHOL”

BY DAX JOHNSON, CHULA VISTA, CALIF.

*I say "No" to Drugs and Alcohol every day
I won't let these things get in my way
Now and forever, the choice is mine
If I choose the right path, my talents will shine
I can become an Inventor, like Iron Man
Or save a life like Spider-man can
I can fight crime, capture criminals, and defeat thugs
Or even arrest the Punisher, if I stay off drugs
I can become a Scientist and study the color green
To figure out why it makes the Hulk so mean
I can become an Astronaut like the Fantastic 4
Or as a comic book creator, imagine even more
I can become an Actor, and star in a movie
Me as Captain America! That would be groovy!
Drugs and alcohol can destroy my life
They can be just as bad as a gun or a knife
But like the X-men team
I can live my dream
To make the world a better place
For mutants and the human race
I don't need super powers to see
Drugs and alcohol are bad for me
Staying drug and alcohol-free
Will help me become all I can be*

The Emergency Educational Grant program provides financial assistance to children of deceased or totally disabled Elks, who wish to obtain or further their college education.

A Father's Wish Comes True

CHAPTER TWO: EMERGENCY EDUCATIONAL GRANTS

As tragedy befalls the children of deceased or totally disabled Elks, a Fairy Godmother of sorts swoops in to help. No, she doesn't wear a fluffy white dress and sprinkle stardust, but she does make their college dreams come true. Through the Emergency Educational Grant program, these children receive financial assistance to attend college. Students must demonstrate financial need to qualify for a grant under this program. In addition, the applicant must be unmarried, under the age of 23 at the time of applying, and be attending a U.S. college or university as a full-time undergraduate student.

Grants range up to $4,000 and are intended for educational assistance only, not to cover the entire cost of a college education. For more information, or an application, contact the ENF Programs Department at 773/755-4732, or email scholarship@elks.org. The following page lists students who received grants for the 2007-08 academic year.

TURNING TRAGEDY INTO TRIUMPH

On a fateful night in 2000, William Chapman II died in a car accident. He left behind a wife, Cathy; a son in college, Brandon; and two daughters in high school, Kaylan and Dana. Dealing with the unimaginable, his family tried to pick up the pieces and find direction at a time when life seemed hopeless.

William's children continued to look to their father for guidance. Remembering his advice, they focused on achieving their educational goals, as he had always urged them.

"My dad believed a good education makes a strong foundation for your life," says Kaylan.

William, an Elk from Elkins, W.V., didn't get to watch his daughter Kaylan graduate from Fairmont State last spring or his son, Brandon, graduate from West Point in 2003. And he won't get to watch his daughter Dana walk across the stage at Fairmont State next summer. Although he's missing his children's graduation ceremonies, he certainly helped them get there.

"My dad always told me and my siblings to find something we truly enjoyed," says Kaylan. "That's what I did."

Inspired by her father's career in engineering, Kaylan majored in Occupational Safety and is pursuing a Master's degree in Safety Management. Next year, Dana also will graduate with a degree in Occupational Safety. She plans to attend graduate school. Brandon is a Captain in the US Army. He's currently serving his third tour of duty in Iraq.

Eight years ago, it was hard for Cathy Chapman to imagine her family moving on. With a child in college, two more on the way, and an elderly father to care for, she knew she couldn't do it on her own. Luckily, William's other family—the Elks—stepped in. Kaylan and Dana applied for and received Emergency Educational Grants to help pay for college.

"The support given by the EEG program has allowed me to do what my father wanted," Dana explains, "get an education in a field where I can make a difference."

William Chapman II loved his family. And he loved the Elks. He shaped the lives of his children by encouraging them to dream big for their futures. Now, the Elks are helping to make those dreams come true.

"I want to make a difference in the world somehow," explains Kaylan. "I want to live up to my family's tradition of being the best—especially my dad's—since my last name is Chapman."

The Elks Hoop Shoot Free Throw Contest supports the need for positive after-school programs and athletic activities. The contest instills all participants with traits that help them not just in athletics, but in life.

Hoop Dreams

CHAPTER THREE: THE NATIONAL HOOP SHOOT

nce upon a time, on a playground in Oregon, a young boy sat on the sidelines watching the bigger boys play ball. He dreamt of the day when he'd grow big enough and tall enough to join them. It felt like that day would never come.

Alas, the Elks National Hoop Shoot Free Throw Contest was born. On that day, in 1946, the playing field was leveled. All kids, big and small, short and tall, could play as one at the free-throw line. For it no longer mattered how close you were to the rim. The arc of your shot and the swish of the net revealed the winner. The young boy smiled, and left the sidelines behind.

Since that day, the Hoop Shoot has grown into a national program with more than 3 million participants each year. The contest begins at the local level, with winners advancing through district, state and regional competition to reach the national finals.

Six national champions are crowned in Springfield, Mass., each year—one boy and one girl in each of the three age categories. The top girl and boy shooters, regardless of age-group, are awarded the Getty Powell Award, an honor named after the Hoop Shoot's first National Director, and are invited to attend the Elks National Convention. The 2008 Getty Powell recipients are Jacob Hartle and BriAnna Burbridge.

Congratulations to the 72 national finalists listed here. The numbers listed to the right of each name represent the shooter's final score, along with shoot-off score where applicable. For more information about the Hoop Shoot, visit www.elks.org/hoopshoot.

EYE ON THE BALL

In the town of Frankfort, Ky., 10-year-old BriAnna Burbridge lies in bed thinking about her future. She has a vision. Literally. She dreams of becoming an eye doctor when she grows up.

"I want to make sure that people have the right glasses and that they can see," she explains.

BriAnna knows firsthand the importance of good eyesight. During the 2008 Hoop Shoot National Finals, she shot a perfect 25 out of 25 to claim first-place in the 8- to 9-year-old girls division and the Getty Powell award for best overall female shooter. She kept her cool during a tense situation, never losing sight of the basket and her goal of winning.

“I was so excited when I won that I called everyone I knew,” recalls BriAnna.

Like her idol, college sports star Victoria Dunlap, BriAnna plans to wear the University of Kentucky uniform someday. And she’s not limiting herself to one sport!

“Victoria Dunlap plays the same position as me, forward, and we also have the same number,” she says. “Victoria also runs track like I do, and we both do the long jump. How cool!”

Although BriAnna counts Dunlap as one of her favorite athletes, she might be surprised to find that she could teach Dunlap something about free-throw shooting. Dunlap finished her freshman season with a free-throw percentage of less than .500!

BriAnna had her first trip to Disneyland this summer when she addressed the Elks during their convention in Anaheim. The experience was so great that she went home and told her friends about it.

“I want to tell my friends how much fun the Hoop Shoot was so that they might sign up for it next year,” she says.

Soon to be a sixth-grader, BriAnna loves math and science. Outside of the classroom, she’s hard to keep up with! She not only loves basketball, but she also runs cross-country and track! Keeping her eye on the future and her plan to become an eye doctor, Brianna’s busy sports schedule helps get her in perfect shape to chase down her dreams.

THE CAROLINA KID

In the town of Winston-Salem, N.C., 11-year-old Jacob Hartle lies in bed dreaming of his future. He pictures himself on the basketball court, unselfishly leading his teammates to an NCAA victory wearing the North Carolina Tar Heels uniform. In Jacob's mind, his future looks remarkably like Tyler Hansbrough's, his favorite athlete.

"I like Tyler Hansbrough because he is strong," explains Jacob. "And he's a team player."

Judging by his performance during the 2008 Hoop Shoot National Finals, Jacob might soon be giving Hansbrough a run for his money. Shooting a cool 25 out of 25, Jacob clinched first place in the 10- to 11-year-old boys division, and his score proved to be good enough to earn him the title of 2008 Getty Powell winner.

Just like many famous champions before him, he went to Disneyland! Jacob addressed the Elks at their annual convention in Anaheim in July.

"This was my first trip out west," Jacob explains. "I was so excited!"

Entering sixth grade this fall, Jacob has a lot to be excited about. He's a proud member of an AAU basketball team and a USSSA baseball team, but he still finds time to focus on his schoolwork.

"I like recess the most," he says. "Just kidding, I really like math."

When he's not using his math skills to count the number of free throws he's made, Jacob uses them to count his sports trophies and accomplishments. But despite his basketball success, Jacob is keeping his options for the future open. If he doesn't end up in the NBA, becoming the next Dustin Pedroia and playing for the Boston Red Sox sounds good, too.

Once Upon a Legacy

CHAPTER FOUR: LEGACY AWARDS

Special children across the land anxiously await their senior year of high school. For they know that during that year, their noble bloodlines make them special. No, they aren't quite royalty; they are the children and grandchildren of Elks members, and they are eligible for the ENF Legacy Award scholarship. The winners all exhibit the core values of the Elks National Foundation: Knowledge, Charity, Community and Integrity.

This year, the Foundation awarded 347 one-year, $1,000 Legacy scholarships to college-bound children and grandchildren of active Elks. The number of awards granted per state is based on past ENF support and the number of applications received. Next year, these students' unique lineage will benefit them even more. We are excited to announce that in 2009, the Legacy Awards will increase to four-year, $4,000 scholarships. The ENF will award up to 250.

Applications for the 2009 contest will be available beginning September 1, 2008, from our website, your local Elks Lodge, or by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Elks National Foundation. For more information, visit www.elks.org/enf/scholars/legacy.cfm.

THE PRINCESS AND THE ELKS: ERIN MCCREARY, AND WELLSBURG, W.V., LODGE NO. 1553

Like many other high school students whose Elks families have allowed them an elite scholarship opportunity, Erin McCreary has been surrounded by Elks values throughout her life. So when she found out that she won a 2008 Elks National Foundation Legacy Award, Erin was doubly grateful for the impact of the Elks in her life.

"This scholarship is both generous and sentimental, because the Elks have meant so much to my family," she explains.

Erin's father and grandfather are both Elks, so the BPOE has always had a presence in her family. Erin achieved a real understanding of the Elks' values in 1997 when her family experienced a difficult loss—the death of her grandmother.

“The loss depressed my grandfather for quite some time,” Erin recalls. “Gradually, he began to socialize again, and the first place he turned was his local Elks club. The Elks essentially rejuvenated my grandfather and helped to put a smile back on his face.”

Now the Elks have put a smile on Erin’s face as well by awarding her an Elks National Foundation Legacy Award. She will attend Auburn University to study pharmacy, and she says the scholarship she received from the Elks National Foundation will be “a huge help” in paying for books and other college expenses.

“For me, scholarships made all the difference,” Erin says. “I know Auburn is the best school for me, and I couldn’t have made this choice without the scholarship money I received.”

The Elks are not the only ones who have demonstrated the spirit of generosity. In addition to her studies, Erin participated in many volunteer activities during high school. Most notably, she completed a comprehensive project to earn a Girl Scout Gold Award. She chose to promote internet child safety. During a three-month period, Erin worked with the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children and personally taught more than 150 children how to stay safe in a world where information is so easily shared.

Legacy Award winner Erin McCreary thanks the Elks for helping her family through hard times.

“Over the course of three months, I learned that I am capable of truly making a difference in my community,” Erin says. “With each presentation, I gained confidence, and at the conclusion of this project, I was comfortable teaching and excited to take my project further.”

These experiences have prepared Erin to greet the next phase of her life, and her father and grandfather have much to be proud of. As she packs for the 15-hour drive to Auburn University this fall, Erin will carry with her the lessons and values she has learned from her family, her service experience, and the Elks.

ENF
Give Back!

The Most Valuable Student Scholarships are available to all graduating high school seniors based on financial need, leadership and scholarship.

A Quest for Knowledge

CHAPTER FIVE: 2008 MOST VALUABLE STUDENT SCHOLARSHIPS

The quest for the title started with many. More than 15,000 entered the ring. But only an elite 500 would walk away with the prize—a four-year Elks National Foundation Most Valuable Student scholarship. Of this elite group, Megan Spencer of Lodi, Calif. and Donovan Barfield of Vidor, Texas, emerged the fairest of them all to claim first-place honors.

With the introduction of fourth- through seventh-place awards, the Elks National Foundation awarded a total of $2.296 million in Most Valuable Student awards in 2008. That's an $80,000 increase over previous years! The scholarships are awarded to students over four years. The two first-place recipients receive a total of $60,000 each; two second-place recipients, a total of $40,000 each; two third-place, a total of $20,000 each; two fourth-place, a total of $16,000 each; two fifth-place, a total of $12,000 each; four sixth-place, a total of $10,000 each; and four seventh-place, a total of $8,000 each. The 482 runners-up each receive a $4,000 scholarship.

Applications for the 2009 contest, open to any high school senior who is a U.S. citizen, will be available beginning September 1, 2008 online at www.elks.org/enf/scholars, at local Elks Lodges, or by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Elks National Foundation. All applications are judged on scholarship, leadership and financial need. The contest deadline is January 9, 2009. For additional information, visit www.elks.org/enf/scholars/mvs.cfm.

Happy Thoughts Becoming Healthy Actions

MEGAN SPENCER • LODI, CALIF. • 2008 TOP FEMALE MVS WINNER

Megan Spencer fills her days with activities that nurture and challenge her mind, body and soul. She in turn, gives her time and talent with a smile to the people and planet around her. Through hundreds of volunteer hours, this top female Most Valuable Student scholarship winner has already begun to make a positive impact in the world. With the benefit of a college education, Megan knows she can do so much more.

A Wide Range of Talent

One thing's for certain—Megan proves well-rounded. As a scholar, she excels in every subject. She earned the highest marks in her high school graduating class, and still had time to participate in several clubs and activities, like Science Club and Speech and Debate. She served as vice president of the Drama Club, through which she received honors for Best Actress and Best Director. As a Cross Country and Track and Field athlete, Megan placed first in several meets. During her freshman year, she set a new record in her league for the 800-meter race! And the list of activities doesn't stop there.

Because she enjoys education, and especially because it empowers her to be of greater service to others, Megan keeps it at the center of everything. In her church community, for example, Megan attended Seminary (religious education) every morning throughout high school. She excelled there too, having earned each year the Scripture Mastery in Excellence award for her superior knowledge.

Megan put her natural strength and ability as a leader to use as the president of her church youth group. In and out of school, Megan works and volunteers as a Math and Science tutor for other students. She helps them prepare for exams and memorize information with creative techniques like mnemonic devices and flash cards.

Healing the World

For the past few years, Megan served as an active member of Storm Drain Detectives, a group in her hometown of Lodi that monitors the quality of water in the Mokelumne River.

"The environment suffers beneath humans," she explains, "unable to speak or act for itself." As pollutants and human impact compromise the river's ecosystem, Megan is there to make a difference. She volunteers to educate others in the community about caring for the environment, and even brings her passion and insight home to share with her family.

Megan's passion for health has evolved as she recognizes the needs of humanity itself. She believes people's lack of health and well-being are rooted in poor habits—from the food we eat, to the way we work and the activities we engage in.

"Health is not simply the ideal cholesterol level or the perfect reflexive capability," Megan explains. "It's a state of mind that begins with our very thoughts." Prevention through education and a natural approach is the strategy to health Megan embraces as she begins her study of nutrition and fitness this fall at Brigham Young University in Utah.

"To raise the accessibility and productivity of natural healing," Megan says, "I want to pattern my life as an example and gain more knowledge so as to promote ideals to everyone around me."

Giving His All in Excellence

DONOVAN BARFIELD · VIDOR, TEXAS
2008 TOP MALE MYS WINNER

Donovan Barfield exudes passion. As he puts it, "I pour my heart and spirit into all the actions that I choose to undertake." And he's not kidding. Donovan strives for the very best with solid determination and enthusiasm, and does it all with an open mind and for the benefit of his fellowman (and woman). This young scholar dreams big, and knows what it takes to make big dreams come true—not just for himself, but for other people, too.

At the top of his high school class, it's not difficult to spot examples of Donovan's success. He earned a perfect grade point average in high school, while also working, volunteering, and participating in plenty of challenging extra-curricular activities.

Donovan has been a member of the All-Region Band and All-Region Orchestra. As one of only 10 All-State Marimba Soloists in Texas, Donovan proves how hard work and commitment really pay off. But beyond his own success, he works as a music instructor and volunteers much of his time as an instructor for disadvantaged children in both percussion and classical piano.

"I want to make a difference both in my own life," Donovan says, "and in the lives of those who are oppressed by the nature of the circumstances into which they are born.”

Donovan inspires others to excellence as well. As captain of the Science team, for example, Donovan doesn't settle for mediocrity. This group has achieved much under his leadership, but for Donovan, it's not about winning. “It is the inward drive for helping mankind that is truly rewarding in the long run,” he explains.

Top male MVS award winner Donovan Barfield will attend Stanford this fall.

He Won't Go it Alone

Although his stellar achievements and bright future are the result of Donovan's determination and ability, he had a great example to follow.

“Living with a single mother who works two jobs in order to support three dependent children has taught me the infinite value of hard work,” he says.

Since everyone pitched in to make ends meet, Donovan also learned the value of a helping hand. As a result, he's committed to making life easier for the less fortunate.

His generous heart and love of science have led Donovan to his dream of studying medicine. “I believe my first and foremost purpose in life is to serve humanity through the noble discipline of medicine,” he declares. But this pursuit requires a lot of education, which, of course, is not cheap. So when Donovan found out he earned the first-place male Most Valuable Student scholarship from the Elks National Foundation, he was ecstatic. “My mother cried tears of joy,” he says.

Education is Key

“I want to be remembered as a man who truly loved to understand this world,” he says, “and as one who used his knowledge to serve others.” Donovan speaks with confidence, and praises the benefits of education with the rich language of a scholar.

It's this drive that earned Donovan admission into Stanford University this fall, where he chose to study molecular biology in the company of top-quality intellectuals. In the long term, Donovan plans to become a neurological surgeon. Along the way, he'll expand his learning with pursuits of music, language, research, literature and travel.

“The scholarship truly has become the decisive factor in enriching my undergraduate education to the fullest,” Donovan says. “[It will] allow me to experience education in earnest, opening the doors to studying abroad and summer research programs.”

Attending Stanford and studying medicine is not just a way for Donovan to challenge his mind and nurture his interests, it's an opportunity for him to further develop as the man of service he strives to be.

The Promise Garden

CHAPTER SIX: PROMISE GRANTS

Throughout the land, children have smiles on their faces, for they've met new friends called Elks. These Elks make sure they are happy, healthy and busy with activities. One day their new friends take them fishing. The next, they swim, dance and bowl. And these Elks ask for nothing in return except for smiles and a promise to stay happy, healthy and drug-free. Of course, the children agree.

In 2007-08, the Elks National Foundation offered Lodges $400 Promise Grants to host youth events in their communities, and Elks accomplished many amazing things. Imagine what they will do next year with $500! In 2008-09, qualifying Lodges will be eligible for up to a $500 Promise Grant. For more information, please visit www.elks.org/enf/community/PromiseGrants.cfm.

PLANTING THE PROMISE OF DRUG-FREE LIVES

Mary, Mary quite contrary how does your garden grow? With help from the Elks National Foundation, of course!

This year, Stuart-Jensen, Fla., Lodge No. 1870 decided just teaching kids about the dangers of drugs wasn't enough. That's why they enlisted the help of a local kindergarten class to plant a "Stay Drug-Free" garden.

Using a Promise Grant, the Elks helped kindergarteners at Pinewood Elementary School make an early pledge to remain drug free. The students and Elks planted a beautiful garden of red impatiens complemented by red ribbons as part of the Plant the Promise project and Red Ribbon Week.

In addition to gaining green-thumb advice from the Elks, the students also received an exciting visit from the Drug Awareness Program mascot, Elroy the Elk. Elroy reminded the students of the dangers of drugs and the promise that they were making that day.

"The event was a hit," says PER Betty Tewksbury. "The children loved Elroy, and all took part in a successful drug awareness program."

As well as purchasing the flowers for the "Promise to Stay Drug Free Garden," the Elks also used their Promise Grant to provide red ribbons for the school's trees and "Say No" stickers, bookmarks and coloring books for all 867 Pinewood Elementary students. These items will serve as ongoing reminders of their promise to stay drug free.

There's no doubt that the Stuart-Jensen Elks helped plant the seed of the importance of a drug-free lifestyle in the minds of these young kids!

Stuart-Jensen Lodge and Elroy the Elk teach local children the importance of staying drug-free.

ENF Fairy Godparents

CHAPTER SEVEN: 2007-08 DONOR HONOR ROLL

And last but certainly not least, we extend our heartfelt thanks to the following members of the 2007-08 Foundation Fellowship, who contributed $1,000 or more to the Foundation from April 1, 2007, through March 31, 2008. This group of outstanding individuals makes the youth programs highlighted in this book possible. Without you, these “Once upon a time” beginnings would not have ended up as “happily ever after!”

CUMULATIVE GIVING LEVEL KEY: The two-letter notation following a donor’s name refers to his or her cumulative giving level, based on total donations from a donor since inception of the Foundation. For more information on cumulative giving levels, visit www.elks.org/enf/IndividualRecognition.cfm. To view your own giving history, visit www.elks.org/enf/personalgivinghistory.cfm.
