On May 17th, 2017, volunteer Members of the Kerrville Elks Lodge joined with clients of the Kerrville Junction House, to celebrate a Hawaiian themed activity, which included bingo and a cook-out.

The Junction House Activity Center is located at the Cedar Elm Apartments, in Kerrville, Texas.

Funded by an Elks National Foundation Impact Grant, the Kerrville Elks Lodge has, over the past two years, provided financial assistance to facilitate in providing nutritious meals, each Wednesday and Friday, for numerous residents of Kerrville, who suffer from mental illness. In addition to meals, Elk and community volunteers also conduct social activities to improve the interaction skills of the clients.

Joining in the Celebration were Elks National Foundation Community Investments Program Coordinator, Colleen Muszynski and Elk Scholar Fellow, Jenna Johnson, as well as many Kerrville Area mental health care professionals and the clients of several additional group facilities.
